

Welcome to the Pathfinder Conversation Guide

Choose your role:

J & J Sales Rep

Surgeon

The Pathfinder Conversation Guide will help identify your customers alignment philosophy in Total Knee Arthroplasty (TKA).

Choose an option to get started.

[Sales reps only] →

- Start New Conversation
- Load Existing Conversation
- Review Content
- Compare Philosophies Tool

Create New Conversation

Surgeon name(s)

Affiliated hospital

Affiliated hospital

[drop down list]

Date

[Default to current date]]

The Pathfinder Conversion
identify your customer
Total Knee Arthroplasty

Choose an option to go

- Conversation
- Conversation
- Content
- Compare Philosophies Tool

Load Existing Conversation

[List showing surgeon, hospital, and date and a way to select]

The Pathfinder Conversion
identify your customer
Total Knee Arthroplasty
Choose an option to go

- Conversation
- Conversation
- Content
- Compare Philosophies Tool

Are you willing to deviate from mechanical axis (0° HKA)?

Select one option:

Yes

No

Review / Edit Notes

Your approach suggests: [Suggested Approach]

Restart

Mechanical Alignment with balancing starts off with standard mechanical alignment that aims for a neutral HKA. The femur position is then adjusted to balance flexion and extension gaps. The tibia proximal resection depths are then adjusted if needed. This technique prioritizes minimizing femur and tibia deviation from neutral.

[SCATTER CHART / IMAGE(S) HERE]

Compare Philosophies Tool

Download Conversation

Explore Kinematic Restoration

Review / Edit Notes 